

A New Dawn

Second Coming
Version 2

On a new day's glorious dawning,
angels' trumpet sounds shall call.
Then our Saviour is returning as the Ruler of us all.
Who will then, on that great morning,
bow before His Majesty?
Who will then, on that great morning,
perish as a travesty?

On a new day's glorious dawning,
our Lord Jesus' might is shown.
Him all peoples will acknowledge,
His eternal Word is known.
Who will then, on that great morning,
bow before His Majesty?
Who will then, on that great morning,
perish as a travesty?

On a new day's glorious dawning,
all earth's people will be still.
Then our Saviour will be asking:
Have you strived to do My will?
Who will then, on that great morning,
bow before His Majesty?
Who will then, on that great morning,
perish as a travesty?

On a new day's glorious dawning,
all the races will unite.
Colour is of no importance,
mercy will replace our spite.
Who will then, on that great morning,
bow before His Majesty?
Who will then, on that great morning,
perish as a travesty?

Inspired by Dutch hymn by Arie Pronk
English paraphrase: Adrian Vermeulen