

Come To My Aid

An evening prayer

When lonesome in my waking, worries keep me from sleeping, when Satan does attack me and tempts me to forsake Thee;
abide with me, oh Mighty God.
Abide with me, oh Mighty God.

When many dangers threaten,
life's storms do me dishearten, when I feel I am sinking and no more stars see blinking, remember me, oh Mighty God.
Remember me, oh Mighty God.

When I am overburdened, by sins and doubts bewildered, when in my daily striving,
the devil is conniving, then think of me, Almighty God.
Come to my aid, Almighty God!

Inspired by a Dutch hymn of unknown origin.
English text: Adrian Vermeulen-Miller